

Forrest “Woody” Mosten is a Collaborative Attorney (Certified Family Law Specialist) and mediator in Los Angeles who handles matters involving substantial assets and high conflict, generally in an interdisciplinary team. He is a full-time peacemaker and never goes to court on any case. Woody is the author of five previous books: Complete Guide to Mediation, 2nd Edition (with Elizabeth Potter Scully, 2015), Mediation Career Guide (2001), Unbundling Legal Services (2000), and Unbundled Legal Service: A Guide for Family Lawyers (with Elizabeth Potter Scully, 2017), Collaborative Divorce Handbook (2009) and numerous articles. Woody has received numerous awards including Peacemaker of the Year, the ABA Lawyer as Problem Solver Award and the ABA Lifetime Legal Access Award for his contributions to unbundling, mediation, and Collaborative law. Woody is Adjunct Professor of Law at UCLA School.

Website: www.MostenMediation.com

Adam B. Cordover is a collaborative attorney and Florida Supreme Court Certified Family Law Mediator in Tampa, Florida. He is an incoming member of the Board of Directors of the International Academy of Collaborative Professionals (“IACP”) as well as co-chair of the IACP Research Committee. Further, Adam is co-chair of the Leadership Institute of the Florida Academy of Collaborative Professionals and former president of Next Generation

Divorce, growing it to become the largest local collaborative practice group in North America. He is also a Founder and Principal Trainer of the Tampa Bay Collaborative Trainers and the Peacemaking Practice Trainers. Adam now practices exclusively in private dispute resolution and is managing attorney of Family Diplomacy: A Collaborative Law Firm.

Website: <http://FamilyDiplomacy.com>